2. The scope

The scope

The scope of this document is functions that OEMs need to have as common functions in IVI. The following is a software architecture diagram of AGL, and this document covers the Services layer.

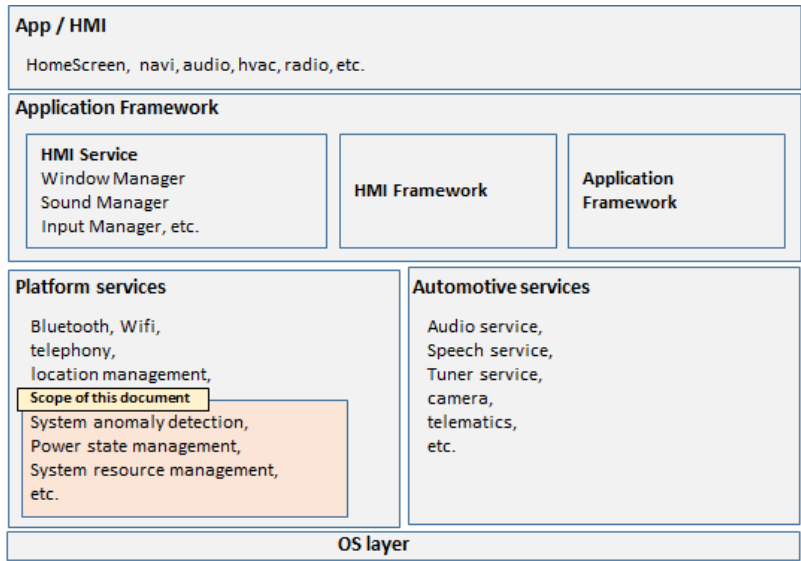

Figure1) This document scope

Each component of the Basesystem, which is a function of the scope above and has been contributed to AGL, is shown in Figure 2.

Figure2) Basesystem components